Creating Classroom Materials for Kinder- und Jugendliteratur
Focus on STEM/MINT

- Do you like to teach German with youth literature?
- Like working with STEM/MINT?
- Want to create German materials to share with others?

Apply for a spot in our July workshop in the cool, beautiful mountains of North Carolina, where you can have a German mini-immersion experience and bring home materials for next year’s classes.

Where?: Appalachian State University, Boone, NC (5 miles from the Blue Ridge Parkway)

With whom?: National AATG leaders Kathy Fegely (PA) & Angelika Becker (IN); Beverly Moser (Appalachian State University) & Nancy Decker (Rollins College, FL)

What is provided?:
- Lodging, double occupancy, in an apartment with a kitchen/shared bath, Mon-Sat
- Hot, mid-day meal, coffee breaks, snacks, etc. (you provide your own breakfast/dinner)
- Materials for the workshop (including the book/books you’ll work on)
- Internet access, access to printer, etc., also parking pass for those who are driving

What if I need to fly?
Some funding is available to cover reasonably-priced flights if you’re out of town. Pick-up will be at Charlotte Douglas Airport, Monday, July 6, between 4:00-6:00 p.m. We’ll return you to the airport by 6:00 p.m. on Saturday, July 11 (flights after 7 p.m. OK) Free bus transportation is available in Boone! (Rental cars not funded, not needed!)

This workshop is sponsored by the NC Chapter of AATG and the Goethe Institute. Six spots are reserved for NC members, but we welcome participants from other regions! Come and work with us, and share back our materials with other teachers in your area!

Click here to apply: http://goo.gl/forms/7od219U48Q

Applications are open immediately and will remain so until all slots are filled. Participants will be notified at the end of each week if they are accepted. Accepted participants will confirm their plans to participate by June 15, 2015.